

Elizabeth Howe

Email: elizabeth.ruby.howe@gmail.com

Phone: (+64) 27 456 9221

LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/elizabeth-howe-38941321b/>

Medium: <https://medium.com/@elizabeth.ruby.howe>

Career Summary

I am a freelance medical writer with experience in academic writing as well as creating health content for the general public. My passion is in writing research manuscripts and articles for journal publication. I enjoy learning complex medical and scientific information and translating it into concise content. I thoroughly enjoy being a medical writer and am looking to join a team.

---

Professional Experience

Freelance medical writer (December 2021 - Present)

Since beginning my freelance medical writing career out of university I have written for a range of clients and numerous topics, notably:

- Springer Nature. Completed a clinical research manuscript project with Springer Nature as a freelancer.
- Leafwell. Wrote articles on the medicinal and therapeutic effects of medicinal cannabis published on the Leafwell website.
- HealthMatch. Wrote articles on a range of subjects for HealthMatch, including cholesterol, type 1 diabetes, seasonal affective disorder, anxiety, and PTSD.

Other writing experience:

- Research reports. At university, much of my work was laboratory-based. For each experiment, I wrote a full research report. This helped me develop skills in academic writing as well as searching and understanding published literature.
- Practice CME and research manuscripts. During my spare time, I have written practice CME articles and research manuscripts using published data from clinical trials to further improve my academic writing now that I am no longer at university.
- Medium. I have been writing health articles on the platform Medium to continue refining my writing skills.
- Slide kit presentations. Throughout university I made excellent presentations using slide kit software such as PowerPoint and Google Slides to demonstrate laboratory results and concepts learned in courses.

Content manager at Writing Studio (April 2022 - August 2022)

Working for a small digital content agency my achievements as the content manager included:

- Developing detailed briefs for writers based on information from clients.

- Managing client accounts, writers, and editors to deliver correct and high quality content on time.
  - Fact-checking articles written for a wide variety of clients/topics.
  - SEO-analysis for articles to ensure clients receive effective articles.
-

Education

Bachelor of Biomedical Science from the University of Wellington, Graduated 2020

After cross crediting my biochemistry credits from the University of Canterbury, I completed a degree in biomedical science, majoring in molecular pathology.

---

Skills Summary

- Excellent academic writing including research manuscripts and reports and literature reviews
  - Perform medical literature research and interpret medical literature independently
  - Demonstrated experience in project management including time management, organisation
  - Proven experience in data analysis using software such as Excel and Google Sheets
  - Understanding of Good Clinical Practice Guidelines (GPP 2022)
  - Enthusiasm for learning and development
  - Proficiency in creating slide presentation kits using PowerPoint and Google Slides
  - Demonstrated ability to create health content consumable for the general public
-

Interests

- Member of the Australasian Medical Writers Association (AMWA)
- Sports including tennis, dance, and the gym
- Sewing and other crafts
- Reading